Once in a Lifetime

The 2003-2004 Montala staff wants you to "Paws and Reflect" while cherishing the memories of the past year.

There were a few changes around MHS that took some getting used to. A change in the administrative department moved former Vice-Principal Judy Simmons to Principal, and added Charles Butler as the new Vice-Principal. As the new Principal, Mrs. Simmons implemented some new rules such as no food or drink in the classroom and a change in the tardy policy.

Intended to make the school's appearance more inviting, a new MHS sign was added on the front lawn. Throughout the high school experience, so many memories were made, that the students at Montevallo High School had to set aside some time to sit back, "Paws and Reflect" as the Seniors parted ways with their friends and moved on to a completely new chapter of their lives.

Memories Shared

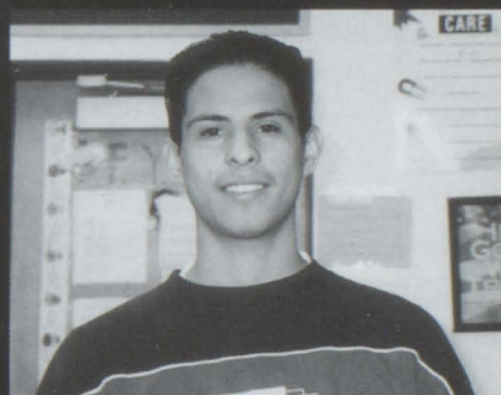

WHAT IS YOUR MOST MEMORABLE MOMENT AT MHS?

"For Homecoming my Sophomore year, I dressed up like a pickle. ~ Amber Boothe.

"My most memorable moment was when I began to meet new people from this school like Michael Stano and Angela Minnick. I also enjoyed the pep rallies" ~ Angel Delgado.

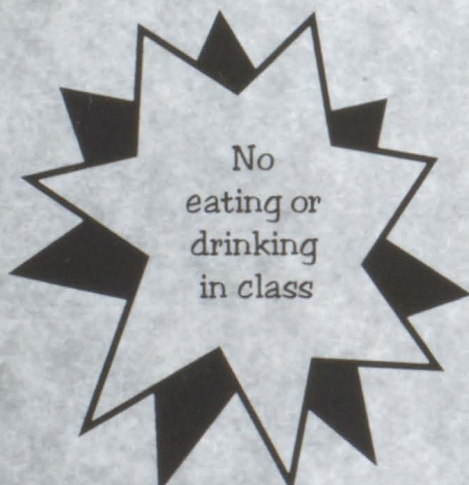

"My most memorable moment is when Gendall Bean hit a dog on the day of my driving test. I had never been that scared in my life!" ~ Jillian Massie.

"The Ups & Downs"

"At first I really didn't care, but now I go to school without seeing the snack machines in the front and it is disappointing, because I get hungry during the day."

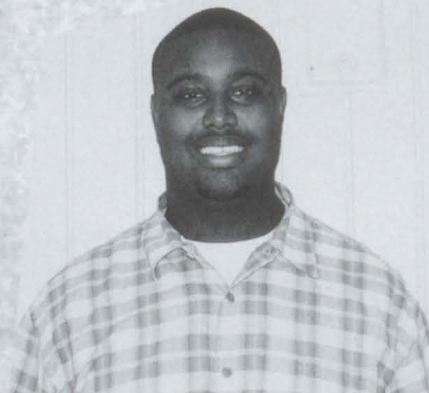

~Neko Stoudmire, 2004

Students and faculty all were faced with many new changes and faces as they started the year. Many students were not pleased with the new changes so we wanted to see how they felt, this is what they had to say.....

Question:

How do you feel about the snack machines being moved and the new policy of having no food or drink in the classroom?

"Personally I'm for it, because I like to be in a clean environment and a clean classroom. With this I feel we won't have to listen to the teachers fuss about trash being all over the floor, and we won't have to worry about getting into trouble."

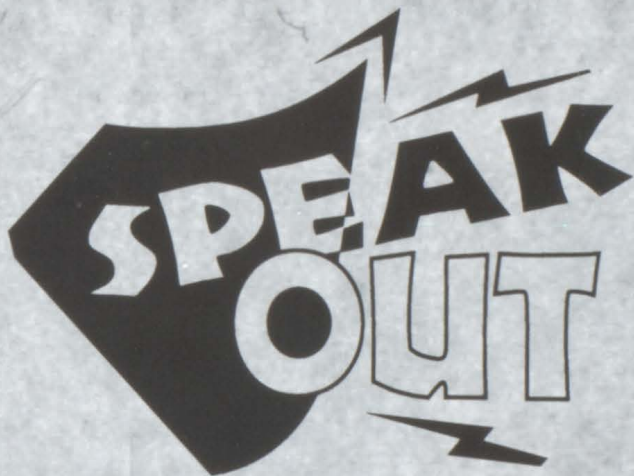

~Calvin Meadows,
2004

"I'm definitely against it, because I feel it should be the teachers choice. Adults stress eating in the morning to give you "brain power" and some people don't have time. The only harm in eating in class is an occasional mess. The individual should be punished not the entire school."

~Ellen Walker, 2006

MY SIDE OF THE STORY

"At first I really didn't like it, but now it doesn't matter where they are because we can't have food or drink in the classes. We should be able to have drinks in class, if the teachers are okay with it."

~Jeffery McGraw, 2005

School Spirit was a major part of this past school year. Students attended and were involved in many school activities that showed. They inspired to show more school spirit by attending pep rallies, and being involved in dress up days during Homecoming Week.

Senior Jody Johnson and Sophomore Chad Glass celebrate at a MHS basketball game. Basketball games were one of the many ways students showed their school spirit.

The football players get their game faces on as they line up for the Homecoming parade. The parade was just another great example of MHS school spirit.

Melissa Staffney, Paige Brown, and Brooke Hamrick hang up signs before the Homecoming football game. School Spirit is what Homecoming is all about.

Bust throughs are the focal point of the pre-game spirit line. Spirit lines at the football games were one of the many ways students exhibited their school spirit.

A Time...

HOME coming

"And the winner is..."

These were the words that enticed students to work hard during Homecoming week. The enthusiasm and anticipation swelled as the week progressed. Students worked hard to try to secure victory for their class. The famous penny count was one of the events where each class pooled their resources together. The float building was one of the main events. This event took up the most time and energy. If students were not wrapped up in these two things, they were working on dress-up days, like Senior Citizen day and Patriotic day. The teachers participated too, by dressing up and entering a hulla hoop contest. The Homecoming court was chosen by popular vote within each class. The Queen and her court were presented during the pre game show of the game. Abby Martin was crowned 2003 Homecoming Queen. Points were tabulated on the final day of competition and the results were announced at the pep rally. The Seniors captured first place, Sophomores claimed second, Juniors accepted third, and Freshmen took fourth. The end result for Homecoming week was sad for some, but very enjoyable for the rest.

What do you like to do during the weekend?

"I go bowling and sometimes I go the the movies."

-Craig Rodahl, Senior

"Most every weekend I work but after work I hang out with friends, go to movies, or just hang around town."

-Wes Archer, Junior

"I love to sleep in late, then I go shopping with my mom, or play some kind of sport."

-Haley Dennis, Junior

"During the weekend I mainly like to spend time with my family and my son or go out with some friends and enjoy the time without work and strees."

-Valisha Cartwell, Senior

Riverchase Galleria

"Usually I go shopping or spend my day working out and with friends and family without all the worries of homework."

-Brittany Gott, Senior

"I like to go and see my boyfriend and we go out to eat or go to the movies."

-Melissa Staffney, Junior

"Spend Time with my family and friends or sometimes I like to be alone. Thats how I spend most of my time. Alone."

-Calvin Meadows, Senior

" I like to sit at home and watch Anime."

-Jimmy Lewis, Sophomore

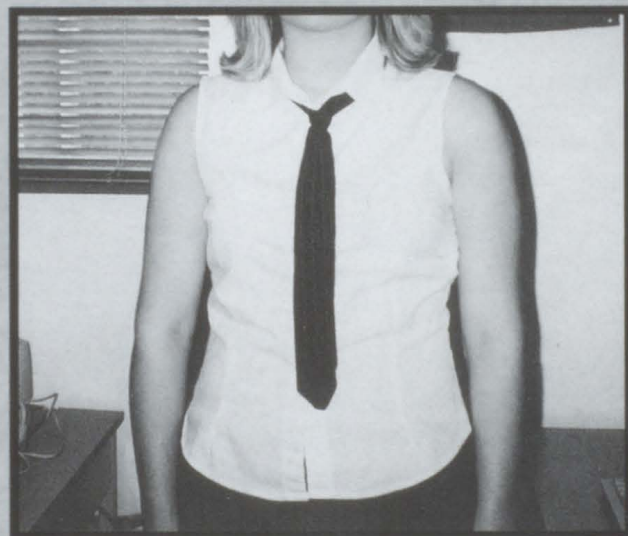

"Go to parties, hang out with friends, talk on the phone, eat, sleep and just have fun."

-Shamyia Nelson, Sophomore

Stylin' & Profilin'

Through out the year styles have changed. There have been crazy high healed shoes to the classic white tennis shoe. One of the biggest trends this year was the unusual bags. Lunch boxes were in the shape of students' favorite characters and purses had the faces of past actors and actresses. The basic polo shirt with stripes and a collar was always in style with the guys. The girls seemed to go for the more dramatic style collars, such as the boat neck and the split cow neck. Although the year brought many different styles, students continuously worked the phrase Stylin' and Profilin'.

Unlike the Freshmen who were intimidated by their first year of high school, and the Seniors who were frightened by the thought of the real world, the Sophomores just chilled as they reached the halfway point of their high school career. With their first year behind them, their thoughts were "We're Still Here".

Looking up to You

The faculty at Montevallo High School did a superior job last year. Every teacher did his or her part to ensure success for every student. However, the teachers did not do it all alone. The wonderful office, lunchroom, janitorial and counselor staff kept the school running smoothly all year. The students were definitely "looking up" to them.

DOWN.

Last year the football team started from scratch. They got a new head coach, and several new coaches. The team had spring training in March, and they weightlifted up until the start of the season. They started things off with a victory, but it got a little rocky.

Overall, the 2003 football team came out with a good year.

Senior, Erland Chism said, "This year the team worked harder. Even though we didn't win all of our games, I think that everyone was proud to be a part of the team." The team ended the year with a fall sports banquet that honored all of the players. Heath Pickett won the "Mr. Bulldog" award and Erland Chism won the "Team Captain" award.

The Varsity Boys Basketball team had an amazing season last year. Seniors Lee Pope and O'Neal Hudson led the team to many victories. The Dawgs had two very memorable games last season. One was the Vincent game at the beginning of the season; where the Boys won when Lee Pope made a shot at the Montevallo County for the three years in double-over time. The basketball team will definitely remember these and many other games fondly in

The boys and girls tennis team had a great season this year. Even with their small numbers, they proved that size does not matter in tennis. All their running and doing drills at practice paid off at their matches and at sectionals. They stood their ground even against teams like Trinity and St. James and had a lot of fun this past season.

The Junior Varsity Boys Basketball team did an excellent job leading the way this school year. Under the coaching skills of Maury Grayson, these young athletes put their hearts and souls into the games each night. "We had our ups and downs, but all in all, it was worth it," said Freshman Jimmy Talley. The boys did an outstanding job representing Montevallo in basketball. The JV Boys worked together and did well this season.

Band Ten Hut

For many years, the Marching Troubadours have had an excellent reputation and this year was no different. The Troubadours began their hard work in July. Each practice began with a "Band Ten Hut" signaling hard work and dedication. The Troubadours recieved all superior ratings at the Lake Guntersville Marching Festival, Tuscaloosa Co. Showcase of Bands, and the Mud Creek Marching Festival. This year the Troubadours got the audience to their feet by playing tunes from the all time great band "The Beatles." The band had huge props of each member of the Beatles and neon beetle bugs to spice up their tunes, which consisted of: "She Loves You", "From Me To You", "I Saw Her Standing There", "Eleanor Rigby", and a flag routine to "The Yellow Submarine."

Line, the Starlets, have received many awards.

With practices beginning in late July, the Dance Line received all Superior ratings and received Best in Class at Tuscaloosa County Showcase of Bands Competition. The Starlets were a great addition to the Marching Troubadour Band this year.

The Starlets make "I Saw Her Standing There" come to life. In the show, their kicks were straight and made the crowd applaud.

The majorette squad was made up of Savannah Willingham, Janelle Trosclair, and rookie Ellen Thomas with Sponsor Casie Nathews. This past summer, they attended a majorette camp. There, they learned new tricks from the great camp director and several routines. The routines fit perfectly into the "Beatles" themed show. Judges at all three competitions agreed, and gave the majorettes "ones" every time. The majorettes had a great season, despite several bumps and bruises from missed tosses. They strongly recommend that you try strawberry oh-tall cake from Ruby Tuesdays.

Leading the Way

Student Council was very involved in planning many school activities. This year Student Council planned various events such as Big Brother/ Big Sister day, Homecoming Week festivities, and a Blood Drive.

During the Thanksgiving Holidays, Student Council prepared food baskets and gave them to needy families.

Throughout the year, Student Council donated their time to help make the school and community a better place.

The MHS Polymer Research Team assisted the scientists at the University of Alabama at Birmingham last summer.

They conducted experiments with polyelectrolytes by depositing them on glass and silicon surfaces. Sponsor Wally Blanton said, "I found it very exciting to use materials that have never been investigated. I really felt like a pioneer."

The students worked diligently hoping to contribute to the university's research. They could not help but to "Consider the Possibilities" of finding a new discovery.

Math Club

"I was excited about sponsoring the math team. It required a lot of hard work but it was well worth the effort," said Sponsor Mrs. Cannon.

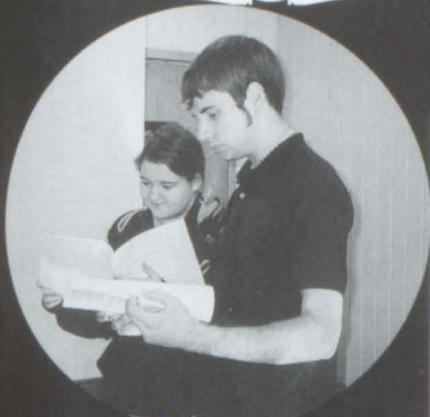

The math team arrived early to sharpen their skills for matches. Most members of the math team had to learn ahead of their respected classes to be well enough prepared for their tournaments last year. Practice was the key to doing well in and various projects, and had a big impact on the school. These students have shown that they have the potential to become leaders of tomorrow.

Put on Your Thinking Cap

THE RIGHT WORDS

Most students got enough of academics during the school day, but some students actually stayed later for Scholar's Bowl. The scholar's bowl teams stayed late learning trivia and facts to prepare themselves for competition. They practiced before well in all their competitions last year. They practiced before school to increase their knowledge on various subjects. "Being apart of Scholar's Bowl takes a lot of hard work and determination," says sponsor Mrs. Brown. These students have shown that they have their thinking caps on.

You Make A Difference

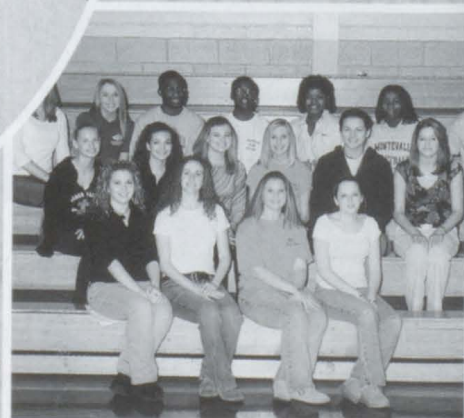

The Key Club devoted themselves to performing service projects in the community. As their first project, members concentrated on the MHS campus. They spent an hour picking up trash after school. "Many other MHS clubs focused on projects outside of MHS. We thought it would be a great idea to start by helping our school," said Sophomore Justin Lutz. These students went above and beyond the norm. They reached out to the real world for experiences that would prepare them for the future.

Treasurer April Harper looks over the funds for a report in the next meeting. Her leadership and dedication helped make each fundraiser a success.

Members Danielle Devould, Amillio Farrington, and Christina Allen discuss possible service projects after a meeting. Their creative ideas were greatly appreciated by all.

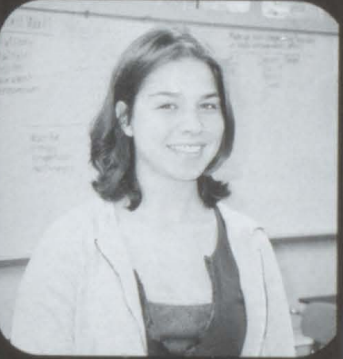

What is the best part about being in National Honor Society?

"It has the best of both worlds- students who strive to achieve their best and students who give back to the community through charity work." -President Ashley Murdoch

"My favorite part is that the NHS allowed its members to share their strengths with other MHS students through its tutoring program." -Treasurer Ashley Lightfoot

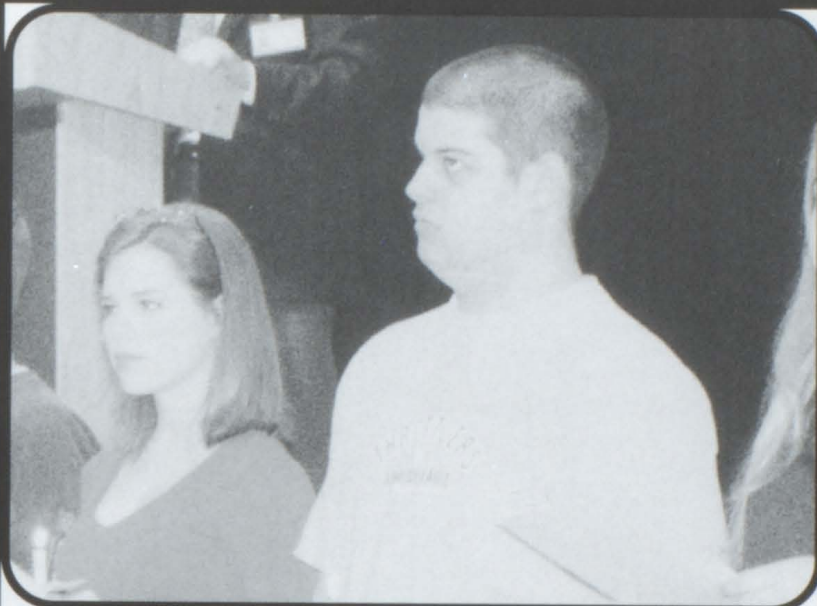

"NHS was a great opportunity for me to stay involved with community service during the school year." -Member Rachel Watson

"I think it is great that we participated in service projects that helped children and adults with medical problems." - Member Nick Massie

The 2003-2004 National Honor Society consisted of ten members. They were "tapped" in the Spring of their Junior year. With much help from their sponsor, Cathy Barber, the organization provided honor roll recognition, honor roll bulletin boards, and gifts for needy families in and around the community. In the Spring, they were the ones to lead the "tapping" of Juniors into the society for the next school year.

The Future Farmer's of America included hardworking and talented young students. These students kept busy by working on numerous projects such as constructing a greenhouse, landscaping, and selling fruit for their yearly trip to Kentucky. In April, they competed in several district competitions such as string band, tractor driving, land judging, livestock, and small mechanics.

FCCLA

The Family, Career, and Community Leaders of America have worked to instill personal growth and family values.

This year they were invited to the annual cook off at Oak Mountain High School. At the cook off, they competed in the pork, beef, and peanut portions of the contest. This cook off hosted all FCCLA members throughout the Shelby County district.

The FCCLA works on baking cookies as a class project. They made all types of cookies.

Leaders of Tomorrow

Ms. Triplet is going over the duties of the officers at an FBLA meeting. They held meetings every second Thursday of each month.

The FBLA took lots of pride in their work throughout the school year. Ms. Triplet organized several events for the organization to participate in to help various local charities. They also sponsored a needy family during the Christmas holidays. They also had a variety of guest speakers come and talk to them about their own careers.

First Priority met every Thursday of the past school year at 7:15 in the morning. "See you at the Pole" was First Priority's main event for the year. Their meetings enabled them to start their day off with prayer. First Priority also helped many students express their feelings and beliefs about their religion.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes scheduled several events this school year that involved fun, games, prayer, and worship. They had some motivational speakers come visit, and they had some activities that were mostly just for fun. All of the people that participated in FCA were involved in different sports through out the year.

The Theater Arts program at Montevallo High School has always been productive. Under the instruction of Theater Arts teacher, Mrs. Jane Clayton, this organization performed the play, Cheaper by the Dozen. The Performing Arts students were united with the Main Street Players in this performance. The club succeeded in making each play successful.

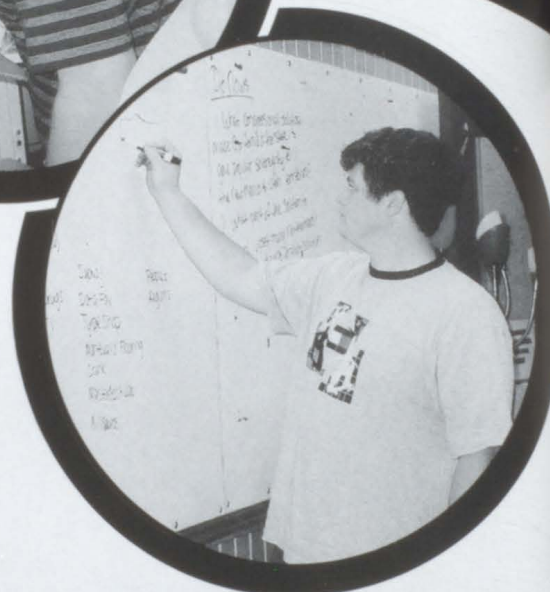

Extra! Extra!

The Spotlight staff made major changes on the newspaper this year. It was printed on newsprint and it was also free to its readers. Ads from businesses around the community helped pay for the newly designed newspaper.

"The changes have had a positive effect on our school. The students seem to appreciate having their own copy of the paper," said Advisor Jennifer Turner. Because of their ability to write great articles with a twist of humor, staff members caught the attention of more students. With the tradition of a prestigious Spotlight and staff, students were excited to hear "EXTRA! EXTRA!" ringing in the air on delivery days.

Reporter Justin Smitherman reviews his article along with the other articles on the spread. His talent helped to improve the success of the Spotlight at competitions.

"I loved being on the Spotlight staff, even though no one appreciated the hard work we did."

-Senior Editor Jakob Layman.

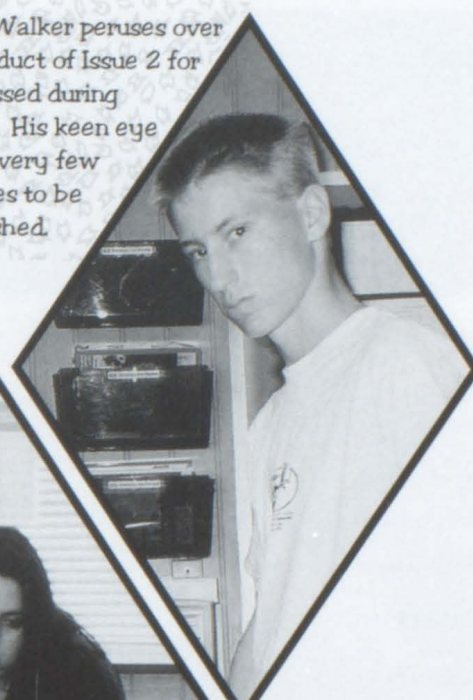

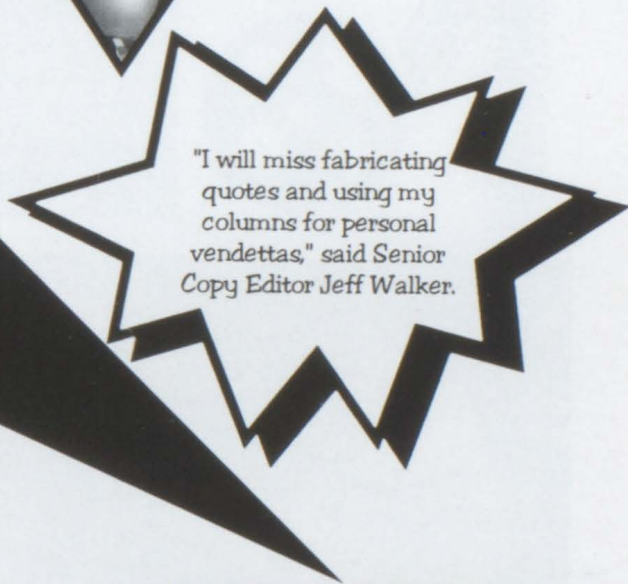

Reporter and photographer Sara Roper collects her newspapers for distribution to her assigned homerooms on delivery day. Sara's hard work kept Spotlight in order for publishing.

Copy Editor Jeff Walker peruses over the finished product of Issue 2 for typos missed during proofreading. His keen eye allowed very few mistakes to be published.

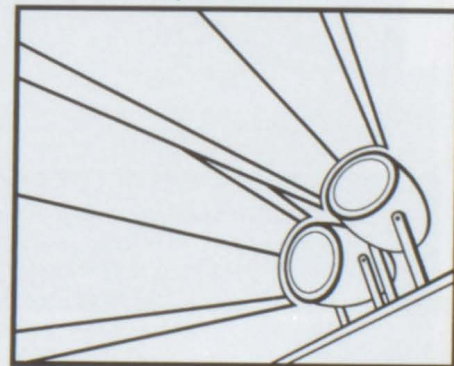

Senior Jennifer Bailey reads her fellow staff member's columns for a few laughs. Humor was common in each issue of Spotlight.

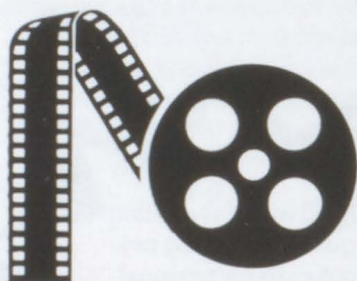

"I will miss fabricating quotes and using my columns for personal vendettas," said Senior Copy Editor Jeff Walker.

Justin Stephens is going over the sports script with Taylor Gaddis. Every Friday before the broadcast, these students made sure it was going to be perfect.

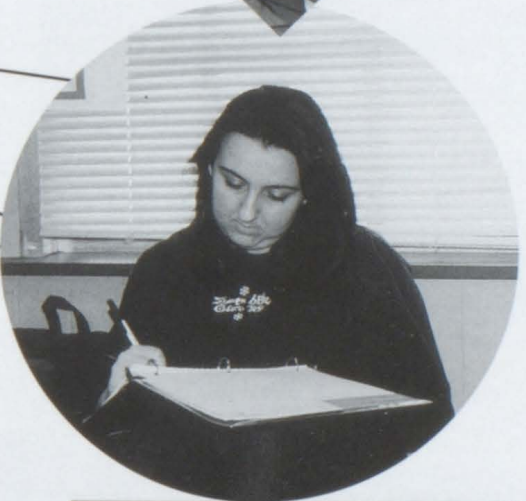

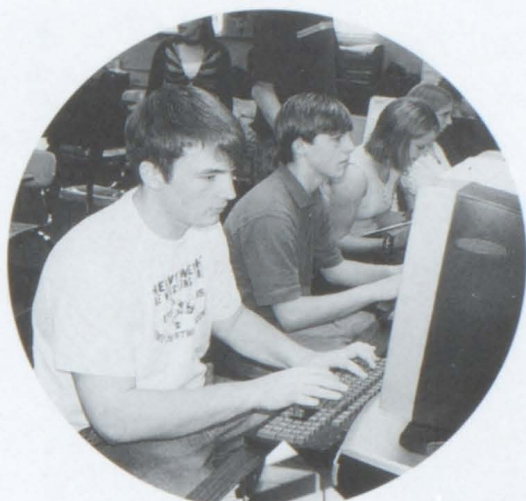

Jordan Pritchett, Jeffery McGraw, and Mrs. Turner are checking the audio for the broadcast. This helped them to be very successful every week.

This past year, the Mass Communications Department was very active. They started the year off with a trip to the University of Alabama to learn about broadcasting. Mrs. Turner and all of the Mass Comm students worked very hard every week to keep everyone at school informed with their broadcasts. They used all of their expertise working on a broadcast to take back to the University of Alabama for the state competition in February. Junior, Justin Smitherman said, "In the end, I am glad that all of our hard work finally paid off at State." At State, Mass Comm won several awards on their broadcast, and they were judged on other work that they had completed.

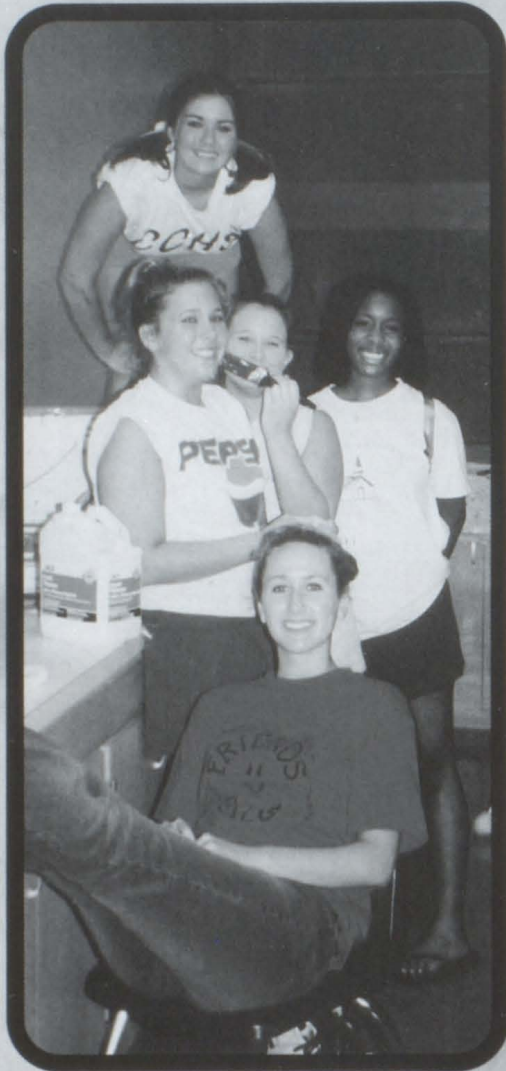

The anchors, Tiffany Piper and Ashley Ebrahimi, are getting ready for the opening of the broadcast. Being in Mass Comm helped a lot of students prepare for future careers.

Jennifer Bailey is writing a script for a report on the broadcast. Every week the mass comm students had different jobs to perform.

Behind It All

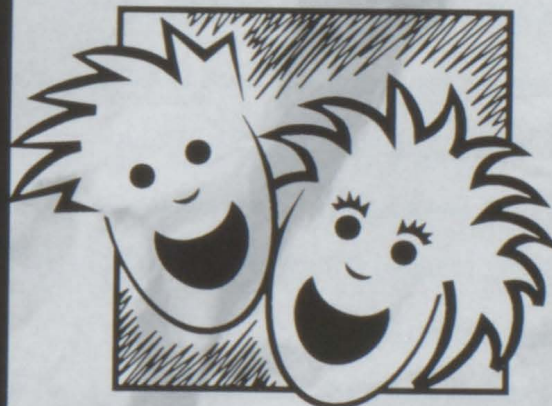

The Montala staff worked hard all year to place the pieces of the 2003-2004 yearbook together. They got a jump start during the summer and attended a yearbook camp at Spain Park High School. They also set aside a couple of days during the summer to organize the yearbook and paint the yearbook room orange and blue.

"Holding your dreams in the palm of our hands"

To my 2004 Darlings~

This has been a year! We have had some good times, along with some bad, but we made it through!
I want you to know that I am very proud of each and every one of you.

I have had the pleasure of watching you mature into beautiful young adults. You have allowed me to be apart of your world and for this I say--Thank you! I wish you nothing but good things in the future. I hope that all of your dreams come true! You will be truly missed. Take care of yourself and never forget all of us back in Room 205.

Love ya forever,

Ms. Trip / "Mrs. McKnight"

Jamie Hoots & Meghan Dennis

Jamie,
I am so glad to be able to have a friend like you. It's our last year, but no matter what, we'll always be best friends. I wish you lots of luck in the future. Always remember, I love you my best friend.

Love,
Meghan

Meghan,
Thank you for being such a great friend. Thanks for always being there for me. I wish you lots of luck in the future. Remember, "I love you my best friend!"

Love you always,
Jamie

With every year that passes, you are more special than before,
Through every age we love you even more.

This chapter is now finished, a new one begins today.
Hold fast to your dreams and let God lead the way.

Congratulations,
Mom, Dad, and Family

April,
We are so proud of you and all of your accomplishments. You are so pretty and sweet and we wish you the best of luck in your future.
Remember- go with God and He will go with you!
We love you very much.
Love,
Mom and Dad

Congratulations Crystal!
You finally made it. We are so proud of you and love you very much.
Love,
Daddy, Nana, and Papa

Twillie,
I am so proud of you and all your accomplishments. Remember to put God first in all that you do because with Him as your guide, you will achieve your dreams. You are blessed with many talents and a blessing is something special. You are my blessing and my precious gift from God.
Love,
Mom

Rachel Harper

Rachel,
We are so proud of you and who you are. You have brought us so much love and joy. You know you're Daddy's little girl and Adam's baby sister, but at the end of every day, I'm still your biggest fan of all!

Love,
Mom, Dad, and Adam

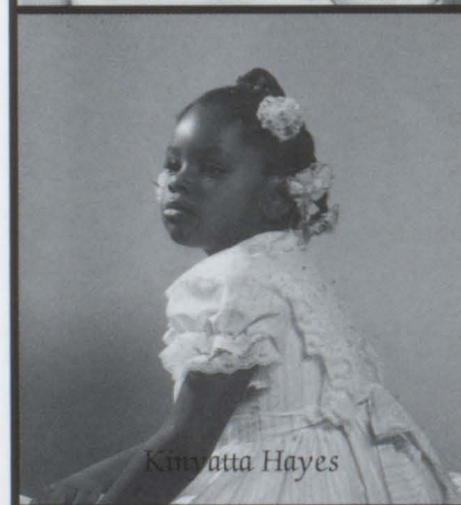

Keith Morlan

We wish you the best of luck in everything you do.

Love,

Mandi Huggins

Mandi,

When you were young, we held your hand to show you the way. Now you've grown into an intelligent, beautiful young lady preparing to find your own way. Walk with God and you'll go far!
We love you!
Momma, Daddy,
Nicki, and Scott

Jeff.
We are so proud of
